THE EVENING STAR. INDICATIONS OF SPRING WASHINGTON:

WEDNESDAY .... . .... March 6, 186 CROSBY S. NOYES ...... Editor

THE EVENING STAR has the fullest Local Circulation of any Newspaper in the World. and as an Advertising Medium is worth more than all the other papers published in Washington.

THE STAR is receiving on every hand, and from citizens and strangers alike, congratulations on the handsome manner in which it has and they're not all on the tables either—the reserve met the demands of the public for all details in relation to inauguration times. Nothing but a completely equipped establishment, such as that of THE STAR, both in reportorial and mechanical resources, could be equal to the emergency in which it found itself; but, happily, it has been able to supply all comers with the latest, fullest and most accurate account and description of every event and incident of interest. This the public freely and cheerfully concedes; and to the public THE STAR desires to return its sincere thanks for the splendid recognition its efforts have received. It aims to lead, and the general and generous acknowledgment of its leadership from all sides is ample recompense for all its enormous expenditures of time, energy and money in that with a good record for work. In the first place originality of design, and the price. no previous Congress sat so continuously in sion. Over 17,000 bills and joint resolutions were introduced, upon which nearly 7,000 reduring his term, and 146 were bills passed by more bye and bye. the late Congress. The legislation accomplished is for the most part necessary and salutary. Four new states have been admitted, an inter-oceanic canal authorized, a new cabinet secretaryship created, the irrigation of the vast arid region provided for in part, besides many other notable achievements in legisla-tion. Much failed. The tariff is still unchanged; the Pacific roads were not brought to taw; the Blair bill again bit the dust; woman's suffrage is still on the knees of the gods; the dependent pension bill did not become a law; the land forfeiture problem was not solved; the extradition treaty was rejected; the flisheries question left almost untouched. Measured by what it did not do, the Fiftieth Congress may not seem so important, but judged by its protracted labors and the laws it actually did put on the book it was a great Congress, well worthy to mark the centennial term in the life of the government.

If the people of the District were consulted concerning the manner in which the vacancy in | num process. their Supreme Court should be filled they would doubtless make at least three suggestions or requests. First, they might reasonably ask $15, 100 pounds $25, Pure Aluminum $8.50 per that the nominee for this responsible and important judicial position should be a practising lawyer, and that fitness for such office, which depends both upon legal training and natural temperament, should be the test, rather than a iees rendered to the appointing power. Secondly, they could well suggest that among the practising lawyers of general fitness the choice might with advantage be narrowed to the class who have been trained to common law practice, as code lawyers are entirely at sea in respect to the methods of District procedure. Lastly, they would undoubtedly represent that both the general and special fitness which have been indicated as desirable would be secured by selecting for judge a member of the District bar, a course which commends That we sell such Clothing at proper prices-prices itself both to a thoughtful and sound judgment, honor and wide influence. While there may be some lawyers, otherwise fitted for the office. who are unwilling to make the business sacrifices involved in its acceptance, the same diffi-culty will be experienced whether a local or a carpet-bag appointment be determined upon. The District bar is large in numbers and strong in ability, and furnishes an abundance of the best material out of which to make District judges.

The railroads have repeated their notable record of four years ago by transporting the THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE. vast crowds of inaugural visitors to and from the capital without serious accident. The police arrangements of the inaugural period are also entitled to commendation. Major Moore and his men have handled admirably the crowds and the inevitable disorderly element in such gatherings. The ball was an unqualified success in every particular, and to a man under cover the parade was magnificent and impressive. Everybody in any way associated with the inaugural pro-ceedings has covered himself with glory, in proportion to the extent of his responsibilities and labors. The only drawback upon the en-thusiasm and the general but reasonable glorification, is imposed by recollection of the excessive dampness of the afternoon of the Fourth. Washington washes its hands from all responsi bility for the weather at this season. It has been long petitioning Congress for a change of inauguration day to the date of Washington's inauguration, April 30th. Every inaugural visitor of 1889 should constitute himself a committee of one to impress upon his representative in Congress the urgent importance of this

One serious annoyance has beset the private secretary of the new administration in the first hours of his incumbency. The White House visitors will call him colonel. He dislikes a military title, and being neither a doctor, a college professor, nor a judge, there is nothing suitable left but to call him "Mr. Halford." That is excellent—the best title he can have.

Not every state is so well supplied with governors as West Virginia. Gov. Wilson, on the ground that until the legislature decides who was elected last fall he is himself the executive. refuses to turn the capitol over to Gen. Goff, who yesterday took the oath and qualified for the office, as did also Mr. Carr, the labor candidate. The courts must now decide who shall be

A QUESTION TO VISITORS

A REPLY RESIDENTS SHOULD APPRECIATE.

Can the "Palais Royal" offer as good values as obta

Under an article headed "A BEAUTIFUL STORE." there appeared in Monday's "Star" a description of the "Palais Boyal," also the following comment clip as a reply to our question:

"Very advantageous purchases, also, are possible, be cause the immense volume of business of the combines departments enables the purchase of goods in wholesale quantities; and when, as is the case with the Palate Royal proprietor, a strictly cash business is done, special discounts are allowed when buying, and small profits are made possible when selling, a comb dvantages which enable as low prices in Washington as are enjoyed in the large cities."

TO-MORROW (THURSDAY)

Would illustrate that its stock of DRESS GOODS and Trimmings is as varied, if not as large, as shown in larger cities. It would illustrate that qualities are offered for the prices unquestionably equal to any and

WHY NOT?

Again, lady and gentlemen visitors we ask your criticism. Every article has the price attached, marked in plain figures. Walk through the store, note the price marks. We'll feel so flattered by a visit that we'll be polite enough not to bore you with a question.

THE PALAIS BOYAL. THE PALAIS ROYAL buys of the same manufac-turers as supply its confreres in business. It pays promptly, and therefore obtains as good terms as any; better than those who ask credit. It sells strictly for cash, and can afford as little profit as any and less than the merchants who credit

THEREFORE
IT IS APPARENT that our prices should be not only as low as any, but lower than the majority.

YOU CAN PROVE IT.

WE REQUEST YOU to look through our new stock to-morrow and learn the qualities offered at the prices. Comparison with other stores in this city or, if a visitor, with those at your home, will determine. In order that you may quickly obtain an idea of our stock and the prices we are hughly preceives for and the prices we are busily preparing for to-morrow

ELEGANT BLACK FABRICS.

"It is a matter of surprise even to connoisseurs to note the number of elegant novelties in fine black wool dress fabrica. Those who are best informed assert that this is an indication of even a greater degree of popularity in black goods for general use and street wear than these fabrics have hitherto enjoyed.

"Ladies of taste have long since learned that no material is so desirable and no style so elegant as plain, rich, softly draping black goods of silk and wool, or very fine all wool. There are a number of novelties in this class of goods in the market that deserve special attention. Among these are the striped Heuriettas in very fine grades. They are unquestionably among the FALAS these are the striped Henriettas in very fine grades. They are unquestionably among the most attractive black goods ever brought out. They have all the style, finish and elegance of the other Priestly fabrics. There are also Henrietta cloths with fine corded stripes.

A fabric that is attracting a good deal of attention is called a silk-warp Gloriosa. The weaving has alternate threads of black and white in both warpand filling. All of the warp of both colors is of silk, and all of the filling is of wool, which makes it exceptionally durable, and it is remarkably stylish. It is especially adapted for elderly laddes and for traveling and it is remarkably stylish. It is especially adapted for elderly ladies and for traveling dresses. It comes in very wide goods, and is not particularly expensive.

There are several grades of cashmere. One especially deserving of notice is the all-wool French "Monopole" cashmere with silk finish. They are quite wide, and drape almost as gracefully as a Henrietta cloth, than which no higher compilings to the result of the result of MONOPOLE" BLACK CASHMERES. These cashmeres have stood the test of time, we having sold them for the past seven years with a steadily increasing demand for them. Here they are again this spring—if possible to be—better than evel. They are woven in the gray, the natural state of the yarn, and dyed in the piece by one of the most renowned dyers of France. We recommend them as being par excellence in Black Cashmeres.

Eleven qualities, 46c. to $1 per yard. We have other makes of Black Cashmers. Take your choice.

TOURIST CLOTHS.-No fabric has a greater hold upon popular favor for traveling suits than Black Mohair Sicillian, or "Lustrine," which by the way we are showing in colors, stripes, checks and figured effects as well as in Black. They are specially suitable in texture for traveling dresses for the reason that they shed both dust and water, and will not crease or look dowdy. For those who always use fine materials for traveling dresses these Mohairs have no superior. Prices, 62%, 75, $1, $1.25 and $1.37%.

Ladies who admire the admixture of silk and wool will be pleased to know we have Silk-Warp Sicillian Cloth, which is the acme of perfection in lustrous-finished Black Goods—48 in.—$2

A new Black fabric for which we predict quite a run of popularity, is called "Satin Galon."
It is all woo!; has an intensely Black and rich surface, and a wide border of Satinet for trimming. It is 42 in. and only $1.12%. 'Twill un-

MPORTANT DRESS REFORM.

It is the age of reform, hence the introduction of ready-cut waist linings. It enables every lady to be her own dressmaker. These linings are cut upon the same principle as our finest custom dresses. The linings may be used as a pattern for cutting out a woolen, slik, or cotton fabric dress, and if the directions are closely followed a perfect-fitting waist is assured. If followed a perfect-fitting waist is assured. If you have not already done so, try a pattern. They are cut from good quality of Silesis, and come in sizes from 32 to 44, and cost you but MOR FINE TABLE DAMASK.

"The land of every land the pride." The land of every land the pride."

Thus the pot boils in the political world—and should find a parallel in the business world—but it is seldom seen of competitors in the same line of business that they meet around the same board and hospitably entertain each other. This is not as it should be Every one cannot be a VICTOR. Neither is it appointed unto every man to wear the crown of victor E. but because you cannot reach the goal of your ambition, it does not follow that your heart must be filled with envy, hatred and malice toward those who have outstripped you in the race. The people lionize and almost idoline the VICTOR if his cause is just, and shower their favors upon him in rich and lavish profusion.
